38 The Triumph & Failure of Strategy 1776-1778
The American strategy in the war of independence rested on two parts; win a distinct military victory and use it to garner support from foreign powers and expand the war into a global conflict.
By William Stroock

48 The Original Windtalkers
Choctaws of Company “E” 142nd Infantry Regiment World War I
By the middle of October 1918, over two million Americans were fighting in Europe. As the war reached its pinnacle, a group of 18 Choctaws in the 36th Infantry Division were utilized as code talkers and helped the Americans achieve victory.
